CRIMINAL COURT ENDED YESTERDAY

At the opening of court Tuesday morning, Margaret Dicello the pretty 16-years-old Italian girl, who has been in the county jail, since January 1, 1919, charged with the killing of Tony Grecco, came into the court room accompanied by her mother and little sister and brother, expecting finally to face trial for her alleged crime. However it transpired that Frank Sierra, whom Attorney F. D. Gallup, counsel for the defense, says was an eye-witness of the shooting was not present and the attorney asked for and obtained a continuance of the case on account of the absence of this material witness.

Margaret's case has been continued from term to term since the murder was committed. Shortly after the June term the girl told a story of the crime stating her father as the man who killed Grecco. Previous to that time she had declared that she killed Grecco in defense of her honor. The new version of the crime was first given publicity in the MINER.

Walter Swedenjelm, accused of a serious offense against a Kane girl was granted a continuance and admitted to bail.

Earl Johnson, a 15-years-old boy of Kane charged with assault and battery with intent to rape an 11-years old girl, pleaded guilty and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff until Oct. 21, when the court will decide what disposition to make of the case. The boy's past record contains a series of escapades according to reports, that might raise doubts of his sanity.

The grand jury finished its works Tuesday morning and was discharged with the thanks of the court for promptness and efficiency.

True bills were reported in the cases of Earl Fimel and Grove Van Sickle charged with selling liquor without a license and also against Joseph Lambro charged with first degree murder in having shot and killed Tony Marino in Bradford a few weeks ago.

The charges of assault with intent to kill, aggravated assault and battery against Joe Suemel were reduced to aggravated assault of which charge he was found guilty.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of William Paton charged with larceny.

Court adjourned yesterday morning

Criminal court convened Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Judge J. W. Bouton, presiding. H. H. Redfield of Smethport, was elected as foreman of the grand jury and Aleck Peed of Norwich, was sworn in as special constable. The following cases were disposed of:

In the case of Commonwealth vs. Elmer Blauvelt, charged with selling liquor without a license, the jury returned a true bill. Later in the afternoon Blauvelt pleaded guilty and was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to spend three months in jail.

In the case of Walter Stiles, charged with desertion and non-support a motion to quash the information on the grounds that it was faulty, was granted. The District Attorney then arrested the defendant and a hearing was held before Justice of Peace Glegrave at 5 o'clock at which time Stiles agreed to pay the sum of $10 a month beginning November first for the support of his two minor children.

In the matter of the lunacy of Elizabeth Davis, a petition was presented asking for the appointment of a commissioner to take testimony. Eliza O'Mara was appointed.

A non-pros verdict was returned by the jury in the case of John Glenn, charged with assault and battery.

The case of Wilbur Degan, charged with f. and b., was held over until next term of court.

In the case of Harold Butler charged with seduction and f. and b. the jury returned a verdict of non-pros.

In the case of H. E. Heath, charged with assault and battery, a non-pros verdict was returned.

Charges of assault with intent to kill and surety of the peace against George Cary of Bradford, were reduced to assault and battery. The jury returned a verdict of non-pros but Judge Bouton gave Cary a severe reprimand before discharging him.

The jury returned a true bill in the case of Carl Johnson, charged with [illegible] adul

In the case of Leslie Wright, charged with taking an auto without the consent of the owner, the boy was placed on probation under James A. Lindsey with the understanding that he should attend Bradford High school. The testimony showed that the car belonged to the boy's father who did not want the lad to drive the car. Family trouble at home also entered into the testimony.

F. J. McCarten, charged with larceny, was placed on probation with the understanding that the money paid by a certain New York bonding company for fune ykon from the Moose lodge be p[illegible] back at the rate of $600 down an[illegible] the balance in payments of $50 [illegible] month until the principal is paid up.

The case of Frank Story, charged with assault and battery was continued over until next term of court.

BARRY-COMMISKY

Popular Coleville Girl Weds Former Bradford Man.

Rev. P. J. Donohue officiated a nuptial mass at St. Elizabeth's church this morning and at the marriage of Miss Alice E. Barry, daughter of Mrs E. and the late Richard W. Barry of Coleville to Mr. James C. Commisky of New Castle, Pa.

The bride wore a blue suit of beaver broad cloth, trimmed with seal with hat to match, and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Miss Marie Kane, who was bridesmaid wore a suit of blue tricotine, a black picture hat and corsage of red roses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the New Grand Central Hotel at tables artistically decorated with cut flowers and smilax. Covers were laid for twenty-five.

The bride is a most charming and accomplished girl, whose popularity was attested by the number of pre-nuptial events given in her honor was a graduate of Smethport High School, the Edinboro Normal and was a successful teacher in the county schools for two years.

Mr. Commisky is the son of Mrs. Mary and the late James Commisky of Bradford. He is a graduate of the Bradford High School and now holds a responsible position with the B. R. & P. railroad at New Castle, where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Commisky left by motor for a wedding trip which will include points in Canada and the eastern cities.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Commisky, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dougherty the Misses Anna, Colette, Madeline and Ruth Commisky, Charlotte Henretty, Ella, Margaret and Jane Healey of Bradford; Mrs. Mary E. Barry and Frank Barry of Coleville; Mrs. J. J Kane and Miss Marie Kane of Ormsby and Dr. Wm. D. Barry of Philadelphia.

CLERMONT DEFEATED SUNDAY

Rain kept the attendance down Sunday last but a number of fans were on hand to see the Clermont team with a string of victories behind them attempt to add Smethport's scalp to their collection. The visitors started very nicely, only ten men facing Sillies in the first three innings of the game, while in their half of the fourth Clermont gathered two runs on a pair of errors followed by a couple of hits. In the closing half Smethport decided to do some scoring and the way the players hammered the ball around the lot gave the Clermont fielders plenty of exercise. Every man on the Smethport team got at least one fair crack at the ball, while Louie Hull contributed two hits and two runs to the grand total of 11 hits and 9 runs made in that inning.

That sort of busted up the old ball game, although Clermont made two more in the fifth and Smethport added a couple more to their string later on.

After the terrible fourth Sillies became quite effective again. He has good speed and good curves and a more judicious mixture of those baseball ingredients would have accomplished better results. Tommie Clark pitched himself out of difficulties several times and had eight strikeouts to his credit. Walter Daniels had a busy day around second taking eight chances without a slip-up, while his work with the stick was excellent. Art McDermott contributed two hits and two runs to the big result and made a fine catch in the sixth frame.

DEATH OF MRS. LYDIA LEWIS

News was received Sunday of the death of Mrs. Lydia Lewis at her home in Wellesly, Mass., the sad event occurring Saturday noon. She was a most estimable woman and her death is deplored among many friends and relatives in Smethport and vicinity.

Lydia Sophia, born January 19, 1849 at Colegrove was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William J. Colegrove of Smethport. Her first marriage was to John S. Ross, a real estate dealer of Coudersport, who died a number of years ago. Her second husband was Willis J. Lewis, a prominent attorney of Coudersport who died about seven years ago. After her second marriage she resided with her husband in New York City for a number of years and since his death has resided in Wellesly where her sister, Mrs. Harriet Saunders also resides. Besides her sister she is survived by two brothers A. W. Colegrove and C. M. Colegrove both of Smethport.

The remains weer brought to Coudersport where the funeral and burial were held Tuesday, the services being largely attended.

Those who attended the funeral from Smethport were: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Colegrove, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Colegrove and son, William Colegrove of Ridgway, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bouton, Ed. Bouton, Mrs. U. D. Fischer, Mrs. Flora Hogarth and Mrs. E. L. Keenan.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

Additional information concerning the death of Chordis Oviatt has been received here. It appears that Mr. Oviatt and his wife were on a fishing trip to one of the lakes in the vicinity of Bloomer, Wisconsin. Mr. Oviatt was out on the lake in a row boat while his wife awaited on shore. He is said to have hooked a large muscallouge and had a great fight to draw it into the boat finally stunning the big fish with a blow from an oar. He was badly tired from his violent exertions and at once started for the shore, calling for his wife to meet him. He had scarcely reached land when he passed away, death being due to an attack of heart dismase from which he had long been a sufferer. She secured medical aid as quickly as possible but her husband was beyond earthly help. The funeral and burial were held in Bloomer Tuesday of last week, it being impossible for any of his relatives from this vicinity to attend as notification of his death did not reach this town until Monday.

CONCRETE WORK IS STARTED

The Warren-Moore company have practically finished the grade on the highway from Smethport to Farmers Valley and activities during the past week have been devoted to getting a miniature railroad into operation for the hauling of material for the concrete work which is now underway. The retaining wall near the borough line on East Main street has been finished and is a substantial piece of work.

Bunce and Carll who built the McCoys corners to Kings corners stretch of highway have about finished their work. The concrete work is completed as far as possible until the East street bridge is built, and within a week or ten days the last of the road will be seasoned and ready for traffic.

CHEESE FACTORY HERE

It is learned from a reliable source that the Smethport creamery plant which has been idle for the past year will be placed in operation next spring as a cheese factory. From information at hand it is learned that the factory will be operated under the same management as the Port Allegany cheese factory which is conducting a very successful business. Dairymen in this vicinity are favorable to the undertaking as many of them have long trips now to reach a profitable market.

FOOD SALE DREW MANY PURCHASERS

Thursday noon the food sale opened in the Brownell store and within a very short time a crowd was buying government food at a rapid rate. Purchasers were unable to obtain canned cherries, cornstarch and raisens within a few minutes after the opening so the supposition is that the demand for these articles must have been rather remarkable. Bacon and beans were heavy favorites as well as rice while canned goods of various kinds were dealt out by the case as fast as the volunteer store force could work. Before night the rice was cleaned out and the beans likewise. Owing to some mix-up in price lists the canned bacon was sold at $4.45 per can Thursday while the slab bacon sold at 32 cents per pound. Friday the cans sold for $3.00 and slab bacon at 21 cents per pound. Postmaster E. W. Workley says, however, that purchasers who paid the higher prices will eventually receive rebates on the money paid out. The committee aided by volunteers worked hard and faithfully, notably Rev. E. W. Van Dyke who juggled 100-lbs bags of beans in a manner to gain admiration. After the sale had been in session 12 hours $2300 worth of provisions had been sold which is a record that large wholesale houses would be proud of. The provisions were all of the best quality and the MINER has yet to hear of a dissatisfied purchaser.

Yesterday noon the entire shipment was sold with the exception of about 25 cases of tomatoes. About $4,000 was the aggregate amount of the sale

HARVEST HOME DAY

A community harvest home day was held in Port Allegany Saturday and was an interesting occasion. An exhibit of farm produce and a stock judging contest for boys and girls were leading features of an extensive program. In the evening an entertainment that featured boxing and wrestling was given, the headliner being a wrestling exhibition between state Highway Supt. C. L. Lorah of Smethport and Farm Bureau Agent Burt Straw of Coudersport. Both are clever men at the wrestling game, Mr. Straw having quickly put a professional wrestler on his back at a street carnival exhibition in Coudersport a few weeks ago. The men seemed to be very evenly matched and a nine-minutes bout between them was declared a draw. These gentlemen have agreed to get into condition and meet in a friendly contest sometime this winter the match to go until one or the other secures a fall. An effort will be made to have the match in Smethport for the benefit of the High School athletic association.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Fourth Quartely Conference was held in the basement of the Church, Thursday, October 2nd. District Superintendent Hutchinson, of Olean presided. The reports showed every department of the Church to be in excellent condition. It is the purpose of the Official Board to make the Church adequate for all present day needs, and nothing will be left undone to achieve a high state of efficiency. The auditorium of the Church is to be re-plastered and decorated. The pastor, Rev. Arthur Gregson was given a unanimous invitation to return for another year. He is attending Conference at Le Roy, N. Y. There will be no services on Conference Sunday, Oct. 12th. On that day the Every Member Canvass will be made.

SECOND OPERATION ON CHILD

Clarence Russ, young son of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Russ of his place, who has been in the Children's hospital Boston, Mass., for several months undergoing treatment for deformities caused by infantile paralysis, submitted to a second operation Monday. Previous reports have all been favorable to the little fellow and this operation is a necessary part of the treatment. As no report to the contrary has been received it is assumed that the operation was successful.

HIGH SCHOOL DRIVE.

On Thursday and Friday of last week a drive was conducted for the purpose of raising money for the athletic association of the Smethport High School. The campaign netted over $85 and the high school is confident of making it over $100.

Out of 113 pupils 98 joined; a very good record compared with the 46 that joined two years ago. In addition there were many honorary members who joined by the payment of a voluntary fee. Any person may follow their lead by giving donations to any member of the high school.

The honorary members now enrolled are: H. J. Rice, F. A. McCoy, Mark Costello, B. T. Garlick, L. E. Munn, S. F. Redfield, W. B. Hopper, Mrs. E. Bouton, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. John Summersgill, Emil Thamm, Thos. Cole, Bernadine Gillen, Anna Gillen, Elizabeth Geary, Prof. C. B. Renn, Melville Gillett, E. E. Heath, S. D. Hubbard, Emma Tretton, Carrie Day, William Brownell, Mrs. S. E. Bell, H. H. Redfield, Walter Miller Ross K. Knapp.

LOST THE FIRST GAME

Greatly to the delight of Bradford rooters the Smethport High football team went down to defeat in the first football game of the season in that city last Saturday afternoon. The city schools have a large assortment of material to select from and apparently they have brought together a fair team. This was the first real contest for several of the local players and their inexperience, which can be remedied, was largely responsible for this emphatic defeat, the score being 48 to 7. Not a bit disheartened the Smethport boys are digging into the practice and before the season is over some of the scores are going to be on the other side of the book. All admirers of the sport should help the team along, not only in a financial way, but in getting together a scrub line-up that can give them some real opposition.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The first state convention of the American Legion which closed its session in Harrisburg Saturday last elected the following officers.

State Chairman—Geo. W. Tyler of Philadelphia.

Vice Chairman—Alexander O'Laughlin of Pittsburgh.

Delegates to the national convention to be held in Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10, 11 and 12, were elected according to federal judicial districts, congressional districts and draft board districts. Those from McKean county being: F. P. Schoonmaker, Post 198, Bradford, central judicial district. E. G. Potter, Post 158, Smethport, 21st congressional district. J. B. Dolph, Post 250, Kane, 8th draft board district. Alternate M. A. Means, of Kane.

SWEDISH MISSION CHURCH

Special Services

Rev. France Erickson of Buffalo, Rev. A. J. Lundmark of Lanse, Pa. and Rev. C. W. Peterson of Bradford will be the speakers at the special services, (Mission Meeting) to be held at the Swedish Mission church this week. The services commence tonight and continue over next Sunday. The services will start week nights at 3:00 P. M. On Sunday there will be three services as follows at 10:00 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Many visitors from out of town are expected to attend these services and the swedish people of Smethport are cordially invited to these services. Special singing will be rendered at all the services.

IS SERIOUSLY ILL

The condition of Mrs. James McLean, who has been seriously ill for the past week, is reported about the same to-day. Many friends of this well beloved woman are praying for a change for the better. Her husband, Hon. James McKean, is also confined to the house by illness, but his condition is not considered dangerous at this time. Mrs. McKean was taken ill very suddenly last Friday night, while Mr. McKean's sickness is aggravated by worry over his wife's condition.

Save a full month's supply of coal

Saving coal was a patriotic duty during the war.

A Perfection Oil Heater will enable you to postpone for a month at least the lighting of your furnace, without sacrificing a bit of comfort.

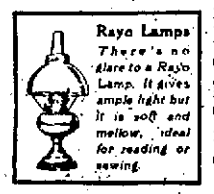
PERFECTION OIL HEATERS

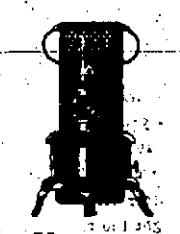
It gives abundant warmth for any room and radiates full heat the moment it is lighted.

No fussing with coal or ashes, easily carried from room to room, smokeless, odorless and absolutely safe. You can't turn the wick too high.

Be sure you insist on a Perfection Oil Heater. Nothing else will take its place for efficiency, convenience and economy.



Rayo Lamps
There's no glare to a Rayo Lamp. It gives ample light but it is soft and mellow, ideal for reading or sewing.



USE Atlantic Rayolight in your new Perfection Oil Heater. One gallon will burn for ten hours. Best for Rayo Lamps too. Costs no more than ordinary kerosene.

ELDRED

Brad Dennis had quite an experience Wednesday night. He went out that morning on a ginseng hunting trip into the woods on Church Brook off the Rixford road. This is an extensive tract of several thousand acres of underbrush and woods, with the hills broken and when it came time to go home Mr. Dennis found that he didn't know just where he was at. He wandered about until dark and then decided to camp out for the night. In the meantime the folks back home became frightened at his non appearance and thinking something might have happened to him organized a searching party. He got out of the woods yesterday morning and went home and when he learned of the excitment he had caused and of the number, some 25 or more, who were out looking for him, he started out to find them and inform them that he was safe and that they could call the man hunt off. Mr. Dennis gathered about a pound and a half of ginseng, so aside from the fright he caused his friends came out well ahead from the experience.

Charles H. Greenman, a former assistant principal in the Eldred High School, principal of the Lakewood school, Oakland, California, died very suddenly last week, while assisting some of his pupils in burning weeds on a playground, death being due either to a stroke of apoplexy or heart failure. Prof. Greenman was a musician, a competent teacher and leaves many old pupils of the Eldred H. S. Alumni who will be greatly grieved by his death. He was 55 years of age, and leaves three brothers and a sister to mourn his death.

M. P. Blakeslee is laying claim to being the champion squash raiser of this vicinity and he has 'the goods' to prove it. This week he brought to the Eagle office a green Hubbard squash that weighed 37 pounds. Its a big fellow all right and if some one of the rural leaders don't beat this the distinction of being the champion squash raiser of 1919 goes to Mr. Blakeslee. The squash is sure some pumpkin.

Miss Glennie Lehart, returned yesterday, from Tulsa Okla; where she has been teaching. A few days previous she fell and tore the ligaments of her left arm necessitating a short rest so she came home.

Earl Wood and Leon Wood of the First Division returned home last Saturday. They are the last of the Eldred boys to return who went abroad and they were in the first division to go over.

C. A. Canfield fell onto a jar last week and cut a severe gash on his right arm about eight inches long and which required 12 stitches to dress.

M. Hoffman had a finger on his right hand scratched by a blackberry bush several weeks ago, an infection has developed and he now has a very sore finger.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Prentiss have adopted a little baby girl.

The largest well brought in in this section in a long time came in this week when one of the Hooker & Rounds at Indian Creek; was shot. The lease was owned by Hamlin, Tanner Brothers and the South Penn, and is reported around 25 barrels.—Bugle

THIRTY-SECOND YEAR

Friday afternoon in the club house on Chautauqua place, the members of the Women's Literary club held the opening meeting of the thirty second year. It was president's day with a most interesting program. The president, Mrs. J. W. Milligan, presided and gave an address on "What the club experienced during the first two decades of its history—1888-1908—and what we hope to do in the fourth decade." Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Autumn Tyler Matych and Mrs. C. H. Williams and Mrs. Flora Gray Smith acting as accompanist. The club history was given by Miss Margaret Caldwell, and Miss Mary Hilton told of her experience as a war worker in France and Germany. Mrs. Robert Roy gave a reading. During the business session delegates to the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held October 14, 15, 16 in Scranton were elected as follows: First delegate, Mrs. J. W. Milligan; second, Mrs. Lewis Newell; third, Mrs. C. F. Schwab. First alternate, Mrs. Scott Walker; second, Mrs. Chester Wann; third, Mrs. F. A. Miller. Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee of which Mrs. R. A. Dresser is chairman.—Bradford Era.

UNCLE TED'S BED TIME STORIES

Ching Loo is Worried About the World Club

"Hello kiddies," called Uncle Ted as he came up the front steps, "I'm mighty glad to find you children playing quietly for once."

Ruth was busily engaged with her family of dolls, and Jack was looking on. He looked worried and didn't jump up as usual when his uncle sat down in a big porch chair.

"Well Jack, why look so glum; doesn't school agree with you after a summer of play?" asked Uncle Ted.

"Ah, I don't mind school so much," replied Jack, "but I was just feeling sorry for Ching Loo. You know his Dad runs the Chinese laundry."

"Why feel so sorry for Ching Loo?" laughed his Uncle "I thought you and Ching had quite a fuss not long ago because he said the dark countries would run the world if the world club plan gets going."

"Yes, I know," was Jack's reply, "but Ching and I have made up. You see he's all worried about something else in this world club plan. He says that if the United States joins this club and his country should have war with Japan it would ruin his Dad's business, because none of us or the others who have their laundry done there would be allowed to do business with him. They would have to close their laundry. Is that true Uncle Ted?

"Yes, Jack, I'm afraid Ching is right again," answered his Uncle. "Now here is why Ching is worried. Suppose the world club plan is working and China starts war on Japan, or on any other member of the club. The minute China does that the club plan says she has also started war against every member of the club, including the United States, and the Chinese in this country would become what are known as enemy aliens. The part of the plan that says this is Article 16, and if it happened, then the real Americans, those born in this country or who are real citizens called 'nationals', would be forbidden to do any business of any kind with the citizens of China in this country. By citizens of China I mean Chinamen who live in this country but who are NOT citizens of the United States."

"How could they be citizens of the United States? asked Ruth.

Only by being born in this country. Under our present laws if they were born in China they can never become citizens of the United States. In fact none of the yellow race can become citizens of this country if they were born in their own country. English, Irish, Germans, and other people of the white races can become American citizens by signing certain papers and promising to be always faithful to the United States, to uphold the Constitution and to cut off all connections with their mother country. Ching is worried, you see, because his father was born in China and cannot be an American citizen."

"But Uncle Ted," spoke up Jack, "that would'nt hurt much would it? There aren't many people like Ching's Dad in our country are there?"

"Oh yes there are, Jack. For instance, on the basis of the Government's figures of 1910 for the number of people in the United States which we call 'population', there should now be more than 14,000,000 people in this country who were born in some other country and more than 32,000,000 either born in another country or of parents who were outside of the United States. Since we count the total number of people in the United States today as 100,000,000 you will see what a great proportion of foreigners this is. Of course, children a great many of the people included in the 14,000,000 who were born in another country, have become citizens of the United States in the way I have just told you, and they would not be affected by this part of the world club plan. But even when we take away the number of these who have become citizens of our country, or what we call 'naturalized', we still have a large number of foreigners who are not citizens and who would have to go out of business in this country if their mother country declared war on any member of the club. The country having the largest number of their people in our country is Germany. Ireland comes next, then Russia, then England and then Austria."

"What kind of a man is it that runs the fruit store on the corner," asked Ruth.

"He is a Greek," answered Uncle Ted. That brings up another example. Some day big country, Greece may attack Bulgaria. The minute she does we would have the same thing happen that I have explained about China and Japan. We couldn't buy any fruit from him or from any Greek fruit store, we couldn't buy candy or ice cream from a Greek candy store, we couldn't eat any meals in a Greek lunch room, and I couldn't get my shoes shined in a Greek shoe shine parlor. There are several thousand Greeks in this country and the same thing would happen all over the United States. What would happen to these people? They couldn't earn a living. They would either be shipped out of the country or more likely be locked up as the Germans were during the war, to be fed and clothed by money from taxes on our own people."

"Would these things happen in other countries, members of the club?" asked Jack.

"I don't think so. At least nothing like here. You see, Jack, America is different from any other country. I have shown you that we have millions of foreigners here. Other countries only have a very few, so few they don't count much."

"I hope Ching's Dad doesn't lose his business," said Jack.

"So do I, Jack. But the only way to be sure that none of these awful things happen is for us to keep out of this dangerous club and attend to our own business. It has always worked in the past and the really big and great men can see no reason to change our plans now."

LOCAL & GENERAL

Walter Rinn of Port Allegany, was a week end guest of friends here.

Harold Booth and Max Moore of Coleville were in Smethport Saturday.

—Bernard Cowen of Rochester, N. Y was a guest of friends from Saturday until Monday.

J. Clayton Backus and F. H. Hungiville returned Friday from Indianapolis, Ind.

Dr. Everell Chadwick was a guest of Edmund Whitelaw at Crosby a few days last week.

Mrs. T. W. Camp and Mrs. J. E. Walker were Bradford visitors last week Thursday.

Miss Norine Kidder of Mt. Jewett spent the week end at her home on Filion street.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Choate were called to Udiontown last Thursday on account of the death of Mrs. Choate's mother, Mrs. George Smart.

—Seeing the world series baseball games on the Star board at the Bradford theater has been a popular pastime for Smethport fans during the past week. Through the kindess of Geo. McCoy the editor of this paper was enabled to see Friday's contest.

—Audrew Peterson of Mt. Jewett was a guest of friends Saturday evening.

Arthur Dardeau of Port Allegany was a Smethport visitor Saturday evening.

—Hon. and Mrs. J. W. Bouton left Friday for a few days stay at their cottage on Chatauqua Lake.

—Miss Margaret Fry of Olean, N. Y. spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Fry.

—Miss Genevieve Kelly returned to her home in this place Saturday from Akron, Ohio where she has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Dulaney for the past month.

—The Coconuda Camp Fire Girls and their guardian Miss Carrie A. Day, were entertained at a six o'clock dinner Tuesday by Mrs. Charles Shultz and Miss Iva Holder at the home of Mrs. Shultz on Mechanic street.

—The Misses Emma and Esther Swanson entertained a large party of friends last week Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Alma Anderson, a bride elect. Miss Anderson received many beautiful and useful gifts from her friends. Elegant refreshments were served by the Misses Swanson.

In response to numerous inquiries it is again stated that the hunting season opens on October 20 for grouse, ring-neck pheasants and squirrel, closing on December 30. The rabbit season will open November 30 and close December 15. This year will again mark the opening of McKean county for deer hunting after having been closed for five years. The county has been well stocked with deer from neighboring states in an effort to increase the supply which at one time was almost extinct. This season will open December 1 and close December 15.

—A large number from here attended the dance at Rew Friday evening.

—Miss Margaret Hungiville and Miss Ruth Jones visited Betula Thursday and Friday.

—Turn your clocks back one hour at midnight, Sunday, October 26. This is the finale of the daylight saving movement according to present indications.

—Mrs. H. G. German entertained a large party of young people at a one o'clock luncheon at her home on King street Saturday in honor of her son, Harold German's birthday anniversary.

PORT ALLEGANY

Developments in regard to the proposed Silk Mill are progressing in an exceedingly favorable manner, and from present indications it looks as though the arrangements will all be made and closed during the coming two weeks.

The Committee of the Business Men's Association in charge of this matter has been at work on various phases of the situation during the past week, and are getting very favorable results. Last Saturday and Monday a canvass was made to see how much local help could be secured for silk mill work. Without much effort the names of about 130 women and girls were secured, who said they would like to work in a silk mill here. These are practically everyone of them local people, and after getting this number of names the committee deemed it unnecessary to make any further canvas, as it is certain that more than enough help can be secured to fill the 150 places in the proposed mill.

Options have been secured on several locations as a site for the new mill, and there will be no difficulty in getting a good site for this $60,000 brick building.

The death of Mrs. James Hooley took place at her home in Sartwell Wednesday afternoon, September 24 as a result of stomach trouble.

Ellen Splain was born at Sartwell December 4th, 1848. She was brought up at that place and taught school for several years before her marriage on October 1, 1779 to James Hooley. She was a very bright and lovable woman and will be greatly missed by many friends.

Mrs. Hooley leaves her husband and five children, Charles of Tulsa Okla., Will of Taft, California; Anna of Buffalo, Helen at home and Mary, who recently returned from France. All of them were with her when she died. The funeral was held Saturday morning at 9:30 from St. Mary's Church, and was the largest held in same time at Sartwell. Father Fisher sang the requiem High Mass and delivered a very impressive sermon.

Among the out of town guests at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Faulkner of Ceres, N. Y; Mr. and Mrs. Porter Nelson and daughters of Bolivar, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Forgess and Mrs. Dunn of Allegany; Mr. and Mrs. George Stern and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hooley of Olean. Miss Tighe of Condersport and Mrs. Ryan of St. Thomas, Ont.

The marriage of Morris Smith and Florence Morey took place at Olean last week Tuesday. They will make their home with his people at Sartwell.

The marriage of Miss Alice O'Brien and Ceylon P. Lambert took place at Santa Barbara, Calif. on September 16th. The bride was a former resident of this section, and her friends here extend congratulations. She has been assistant superintendent of the Kern County Schools during the past year.

A very pretty wedding took place September 28, 1919 at 3 o'clock at the home of Edgar Prindle of South Main Street when Alice May Wilson became the bride of Edgar Nebbergall of Charleston, W. Va., The bride was attired in cream colored Pongee Silk and carried white dahlias. She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Edgar Prindle. Vera Doyle played the wedding march and Grace Prindle was ring bearer. The bride's sister, Mrs. Edgar Prindle acted as bridesmaid. The house was decorated in ferns and astors. The guests were Mrs. L. Nebbergall, mother of the groom of Charleston, W. Va., Mrs. Prosser and son, Winson of Sartwell Creek, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Doyle. After the ceremony a fine chicken dinner was served. The wedding cake was a big fruit cake tastefully ornamented in green and pink the happy couple left on the five o'clock train for Buffalo, N. Y.

Do Smethport citizens ever give a thought to fire protection? Do they realize that the apparatus in use by the fire department is becoming antiquated, that it deteriorates in effectiveness from year to year? The men who handle it know this. They know also that it has been years since apparatus in any large amount has been purchased. They know that in the event of sudden and severe usage much of their apparatus will not stand the strain, but will become entirely useless. The Smethport Fire Department is composed of volunteers who risk their lives and spoil their clothes and their services are given "free, gratis, for nothing and don't cost a cent," to quote the words of a late lamented citizen. It would seem up to the citizens of the town to provide up-to-date apparatus for these firemen. What are you going to do in the event that they start a drive to raise funds for the purchase of new apparatus?

That there are too many two-hundred-dollar men holding two to twenty thousand dollar positions in this glorious land of the free and home of the brave is becoming more apparent every day. Authority even in a petty degree is a dangerous power in the hands of a bonehead, and the exercise of small authority to the limit without a judicious mixture of common sense is keeping Bolshevism alive in various sections of the country. Shining examples of the kind mentioned in the forgoing can be found on both sides of the steel strike problem, and until their influence is eliminated it will remain a very serious problem. Confident statements regarding the situation are published daily from the rival headquarters, but the fact remains that the steel industry is badly crippled, many thousands of men are consequently out of work a large portion through no fault of their own—and no one is being benefitted, while the country at large is getting decidedly the worst of it.

The law passed by the last session of the legislature regulating the attendance of school pupils at moving picture shows, while it may work beneficially in the larger cities is a nuisance in smaller communities. In communities like Smethport, of which there are some thousands in the state, this law is held in decided disapproval. The provision that declares that parent or guardian must accompany the child to a moving picture show is too drastic. A written permit should suffice, otherwise the child is deprived on many occasion of this innocent amusement as the father, mother, or older member of the family cannot spare the time to attend. In their zealous attempts to safeguard the child, often at the behest of male and female fanatics who themselves have escaped the responsibilities of parenthood, the legislature occasionally is led into foolish channels. The action of grown men in entirely depriving the children in various communities of firecrackers and fireworks, is another Pennsylvania pastime which should be discouraged among those in authority. This "hands across the sea" gammon, which has been decidedly overworked in the past few years, should not be allowed to mislead the rising generation in regard to the significance of Independence Day. How many men in middle life to-day would have been as good Americans if deprived of the noisy old-fashioned Fourth of Julys in youth?

THE AMERICAN LEGION

In a spirited session, at Harrisburg, Saturday closing the first state cantonment of the Legion of Pennsylvania, the men who fought for the ideals of Americanism on land and sea went definitely on record for compulsory and universal military training as the only means of safeguarding those ideals.

The Legionaires representing Pennsylvania's 340,000 men and women veterans of the war, virtually were unanimous in adopting the policy of Roosevelt and of General Wood as the only means of preventing a repetition of the peculiar situation of America first declaring a state of war and raising and training an army to be placed in the field from one to two years later.

Virtually all of the closing session of the cantonement was devoted to the adoption of resolutions, which were reported by the committee on resolutions, of which George Wentworth Carr, of Philadelphia was chairman.

Succintly, the resolutions showed that the American Legion of Pennsylvania wants:

A congressional investigation of the causes of recent race rioting in the United States and an immediate end to further lynchings.

As to the strife between capital and labor, "unalterably the maintenance of law and order."

Immediate and thoro investigation by congress of cruelties to enlisted men in America and abroad and punishment of the guilty "to the utmost degree."

Placing of disabled men where their service entitles them, instead of being dependent upon public charity.

Designation of November 11 as a national holiday.

Adoption of the Sweet bill, pending in congress, providing for an increase in the number of beneficiaries of war risk insurance and compensation.

Immediate deportation of alien enemies entered during the war and the placing of native-born slackers in the same category with alien slackers.

Organizations of women's auxilaries to the American Legion by the mothers, wives and sisters of the legionaires.

A resolution to place the cantonement on record as favoring the payment of additional bonuses to discharged soldiers, sailors and marines was killed.

JEWISH WAR RELIEF DRIVE.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Nathaniel Harris, County Chairman, the local campaign of the Jewish War Relief Committee opened Monday and will continue until next Saturday night.

This relief drive is nation-wide and the quota assigned to McKean county is $20,000 the goal of the local committee. Some generous subscriptions have been received in advance but with the stimulus of actual war lacking, earnest work and prompt response will be necessary to insure complete success.

While this money will be raised largely for the relief of members of a single race that has suffered almost unbelievable deprivations and injury in Poland and other war stricken districts of Europe, the benefits, so far as the future is concerned, will accrue to all the world. Hunger and suffering breed anarchy and Bolshevism and stable government cannot endure where these elements exist.

If stable conditions ever are restored throughout the world, this insuring safety abroad and security at home, hunger and exposure must be extirpated and the peoples of all lands placed in a position where they may become self supporting. The cheapest way to bring about this condition is to supply suffering peoples with the necessities of life. Any other course at this time would pile up a tremendous bill of expense and responsibility for the future in the way of curtailed business, international complications and disturbed social conditions, to say nothing of the load of human suffering which already seems to have reached proportions well nigh unbearable.

Compared with the benefits that would follow its raising and employment, the sum asked for in this drive seems pitiably small and it would serve the energetic managers right if the fund were to be sent over the top early in the campaign.—Era.

TRAVELERS CLUB MEETING

The Smethport Travelers' Club held its first meeting of the year at the Club House on Saturday, October fourth at three o'clock, P. M. A sealed program was the work for the day and the committee, Mrs. McCandless, Chairman assisted by Mrs. C. H. Gleason, Mrs. T. H. Purtle, Mrs. H. H. Redfield, Mrs. O. J. Hamlin and Mrs. Frank Potter spared no pains to make the day both interesting and pleasurable. After unsealing the literary part of the program Mrs. Sears of Binghamton was disclosed and needless to say an intellectual treat followed. We were told in a delightful manner of Italy and its people; how to know and understand them; interspersed with wonderful descriptions of some of the cities in which the speaker spent several months. These were delightful sketches illustrating the character and home life of the people, the best traits of whom were always brought into prominence by being to them a 'Little Brother'.

Love of children is a predominating feature and a strong desire for their welfare is evidenced in quite an American manner. Adrian with whom Mrs. Sears became very friendly telling her, "I dona fink much of the priest but I makka the kid, go to church." After the close of this delightful talk which was heartily received by the Club members, automobiles conveyed the ladies to Mrs. McCandles' bungalow on Mt. Pisgah. It would require a poet to give a description of the wonderful panorama that greets the eye from the broad porches. Never have we been granted a more beautiful Autumn and as we stood on the heights looking for miles in all directions we recalled the following lines:

A haze on the far horizon
The infinite tender sky,
The ripe rich tint of the cornfields
And the wild geese sailing high.
And all over upland and lowland
The charm of the golden-rod
Some of us call it Autumn.
And others call it God.

After feasting our eyes on this never to be forgotten picture we enter the spacious living room where our gracious hostess makes every one welcome. Delicious refreshments are served from a bountifully filled refectory table, and feeling that we have not only had a "feast of reason and a flow of soul" but have also refreshed the inner man, we reluctantly took our leave. Many thanks are due the committee who carefully planned and successfully carried out this program and special thanks to the chairman whose hospitality made possible such a fitting finale to a perfect day.

A building belonging to Dr. H. K. Eamon of Mt. Jewett used for the storage of gasoline caught fire in some unknown manner Saturday afternoon and was destroyed. The building was located on Main Street and for a time fears were entertained that a large conflagration would result. Active work on the part of the firemen confined the flames to the one building.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Herzog of Farmers Valley departed Tuesday morning for Rochester, N. Y., and after a short visit in that city they expect to leave for Tulsa, Oklahoma where they expect to spend the winter. Mr. Herzog has been a sufferer from rheumatism for several months past and is making this change in the hope of benefitting his health. His many friends sincerely hope with him

—The once prosperous town of Medix Run, Elk county, will soon be but a memory, for the only industry in the place, the Mosser tannery, is being rapidly dismantled. Time was when Medix not only had the large tannery but also several saw mills in the vicinity in the heyday of its youth. Now about 25 families form its population and within two months they will move away and the town become only a memory.

—Charles Rice of Smethport, honorably discharged from the U. S. army in March after several months service overseas and who has since been working in the shipyards in Newark, N. J., is visiting his father, Myer Rice and brother, H. J. Rice. His description of experiences enconntered in the service are interesting. According to his observation poverty in devastated France is of a dire degree unheard of in this country.

—According to reports from Olean the street car strike shows no immediate hope of settlement and none of the cars on the W. N. Y. & P. traction company's lines were running Tuesday. Saturday there seemed to be some hope of resuming operations as the company made certain modifications in agreements which were presented to the men as a basis of settlement. However, recognition of the union continues to be the stumbling block in the way of ending the strike.

—A chicken supper will be served at Galco Park on Thursday, Oct. 16, from 6 to 8 p. m., by the ladies of Burbanks as a reception to the returned soldiers and sailors of this vicinity. All soldiers and sailors are requested to wear their uniforms. Dancing will follow the supper. Supper tickets are 50 cents each for all persons aside from soldiers and sailors. In the event of a surplus remaining from the proceeds of the supper, it will be donated for some worthy object.

—The Misses Mary and Helen Anderson were Olean visitors Tuesday.

U. S. WANTS HELP OF BOYS AND GIRLS

Secretary of Treasury Asks Them to Shape the Nation's Future.

School boys and girls of America have been honored by a direct appeal for assistance from one of the highest officials of the United States Government. Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury and a member of the President's Cabinet, recognizing that the future of the nation will be controlled a few years hence by the boys and girls of today, has asked them to build up habits of industry and saving which will be a permanent influence for national welfare.

Secretary Glass' appeal reached all school boys and girls of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware through their teachers on Friday, October 3, which was made National Thrift Registration Day in the schools, when the boys and girls pledged themselves to save money regularly and invest in Government Thrift and Savings Stamps.

The War Savings Division of the district is anxious that every boy and girl should possess a copy of the Secretary's letter. With the cooperation of the newspapers the letter is now printed in full and every boy and girl is requested to keep this copy of it, study its suggestions carefully and do all in their power to give the Secretary of the Treasury the assistance he so confidently expects from them.

The Secretary of the Treasury.
Washington.
September 25, 1919.

To the School Boys and School Girls of America:

In addressing the twenty million or more school boys and girls of this country, I am addressing the citizens of the business and professional men and women, the producers and consumers and the home makers of only a few years hence. The responsibility of all the problems of our country will ultimately fall upon you. The spirit of patriotism and helpfulness which you discovered during the world war has proved your fitness for your future responsibility. You are now in production of needed things during the war your services are loyal and heroic, and your achievements in the economic sacrifices necessary to victory, every American citizen is living proud.

It is the earnest desire of your Government that you should continue to serve and make permanent these same kinds of thrift, economy, self-denial and service and exercise that through your efforts America may soon become a nation of savers and citizens of a better world. Indeed, that duty now is the test of pride the boys and girls of America take in the success of their country when school days are over and who have what they have in some definite plan.

I am glad to see that our school boys and girls have confidence during the period of readjustment after the war to invest their savings in the War Savings Stamps, thus helping your Government to pay its debts. I am sure that this habit will prove so fascinating to you that you will continue to save and to serve Oregon all the months and years to come and keep buying what you have in Government securities.

It is my personal hope that the lessons of thrift that you are now taught in your school may help you to develop the very best habits of saving and thereby lay a foundation for your financial success and usefulness and ultimately for a bigger and better America.

Sincerely yours,
CARTER GLASS.

Extravagance rots character; drains youth away from it. On the other hand, the habit of saving money, while it stiffens the will, also heightens the energies. If you [illegible] that you are beginning to save.—Theodore [illegible]

HIGH WAGE A SNARE WITHOUT SAVINGS

Governor Passmore Regroups 3d Federal District to Promote Greater Thrift.

To give additional effectiveness to the national thrift movement in the Third Federal Reserve District a regrouping of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware counties has been arranged by Governor E. Pusey Passmore. The work of building up the people's savings for the material benefit of the community is now being directed through four administrative groups with central chairmen in charge of the movement in each group.

Three groups are composed of the Pennsylvania counties, and the fourth comprises seventeen New Jersey counties and all of Delaware. The Pennsylvania groups are: No. 1—including Adams, York, Lancaster, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Lebanon, Berks, Lehigh, Northampton, Schuylkill, Carbon, Monroe, Pike and Wayne counties, with J. N. Schroeder, Lancaster, group chairman. No. 2—Sullivan, Franklin, Cumberland, Perry, Juniata, Dauphin, Snyder, Northumberland, Montour, Columbia, Luzerne, Wyoming, Lackawanna, Sullivan, Bradford and Susquehanna counties, with George E. Lloyd, Carlisle, group chairman. No. 3 Bedford, Cambria, Blair, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Clearfield, Centre, Clinton, Lycoming, Union, Tioga, Potter, McKean, Elk and Cameron counties, W. Harrison Walker, Bellefonte, group chairman. New Jersey and Delaware are under the chairmanships of Athol V. Wise, Philadelphia.

Women associate chairmen and county chairmen complete the organization which is carrying the message of thrift into the homes and keeping it constantly before the people.

In regrouping the district Governor Passmore emphasized that the present work of the War Savings Division bids fair to be of greater usefulness to the country than the important service it conducted during the war.

"Those who have closely studied the economic situation agree," said Governor Passmore, "that the remedies for existing intolerable conditions are increased essential production and greater national savings. High wages without increased savings are a will o' the wisp to lead the people into still lower depths of waste, extravagance and financial instability.

"It is in materially increasing the savings investment holdings of the people that the War Savings Division has a really tremendous opportunity to serve. Secretary Glass has sounded a call for the exercise of the utmost vigor in pushing the Saving Movement. I feel safe in predicting that the Third Federal Reserve District will respond to that call in the same spirit and with the same effectiveness that it has shown upon every occasion when national welfare required its advancement.

"It is our duty to promptly comply fully with the order of Secretary Glass to stimulate the sale of Thrift and Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates in every sensible and legitimate way.

"The savings movement is not a government campaign for funds. It is a people's movement to build up financial strength of the people and for the people and a furtherance of the greatest possible national economic stability.

"Realizing that the American people are quick to support a movement for their benefit, when it is properly and intelligently laid before them, let us with renewed vim and enthusiasm go about our work of piloting the nation from disaster to financial security through the safe channel of national thrift."

LODGES THINK WELL OF NEW SECURITY

Many Orders Invesling Fund in Quick Redeemable Treasury Saving Certificates.

Among the fraternal organizations in the Third Federal Reserve District, which have been investing their lodge funds in the new U. S. Treasury Saving Certificates are the Knights of Malta, Knights of Pythias, Improved Order of Red Men, Patriotic Order Sons of America, I. O. Order United American Mechanics, Foresters of America, and Order of Independent Americans. There are about 3500 lodges in the 60 Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware counties of the Third District and the War Savings Division has been interesting them in the advantages, from the lodge standpoint, of placing their funds in this new government security.

Many letters have been received from officers of lodges endorsing the certificates as the best investment for lodges. A trustee of one of the most prominent Knights of Pythias lodges in Pennsylvania said he considers the issuance of the certificates one of the biggest things the War Savings Division has achieved.

"These certificates exactly fit the needs of lodges," said this trustee. "Their absolute safety coupled with high interest rate and speedy redemption privilege make them the most attractive investment I know of for the funds of any organization which requires to have a ring to its money so that it may be quickly recalled in case of emergency."

Treasury Savings Certificates are issued in the denominations of $100 and $1000. Any sum up to $1000 can be invested by a lodge in one year. The certificates are being sold in October at the rate of $81.20 per $100. If held until January 1, 1924, they will be redeemed at full face value, $100 or multiples thereof. Should a lodge need its money back at any time, its certificates will be redeemed upon 10 days' notice at full cost price plus 3 per cent interest. The value and interest are guaranteed by the United States Government. They are not subject to market fluctuations.

Certificates are obtainable at post offices and at all incorporated banks and trust companies. The War Savings Division, 1431 Walnut street, Philadelphia, will supply further information upon request.

NEW SAVING PLAN AIDS WAGE EARNERS

More Than 1400 Government Savings Associations Now Active in the Third Federal District.

More than 1400 Government Savings Associations are now operating in the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware counties of the Third Federal Reserve District. These associations are located in business and industrial concerns and have a total membership of over 200,000.

The members are regularly saving and investing through the purchase of Government Thrift and Savings Stamps. The largest of these associations has several thousand members and its total investment at a single pay runs from $3000 to $4000.

The Government Savings Association plan is a very simple one. It is designed to make saving an easy and convenient process and for that reason is meeting with great favor among workers. There are no dues, no fines, no meetings, and no record is kept of individual accounts. The ease of saving by the method now introduced goes far to institute thrift as a permanent habit and the returns in various plants show that many workers who previously were very improvident are methodically and regularly putting by considerable sums.

In one small concern eleven men were interested in the plan and it was figured that in six months they were likely to save about $175. They actually saved more than $200 in that time, as much to their own as to others' surprise, and two of them bought homes, using their investment in Government Savings Stamps to make the initial payments.

The War Savings Division, with headquarters at 1431 Walnut street, Philadelphia, is introducing the association plan into practically all leading business and it is meeting with the commendation of both the employers and the employees. Literature relating to the plan and suggestions to promote its introduction in any line of business are obtainable upon request.

NO MORE HAND GRENADE BANKS

As the War Department has determined that the distribution of hand grenades as souvenirs be discontinued, and has cancelled the arrangement for supplying grenades to the Treasury Department to be manufactured into grenade savings banks, the Treasury Department is unable to continue the distribution of the banks. In order, however, to recognize the efforts of the children in working and saving during the vacation time, each one who would be entitled to a bank will receive a Certificate of Achievement from the Treasury in appreciation of his or her industry in saving and buying Government securities.

A Strawberry Dream.

Strawberry time recalls to those who have visited Denmark in summer that delightful cellar in Copenhagen where a feast of strawberries and cream was spread, and whose chosen could partake the rest at a quite small charge—the equivalent of 6d, if we remember rightly. Piles of strawberries, quart jugs of cream partly whipped, great basins of sugar, and nothing else, all down the long table in the cool basement, to which the visitor descends from the hot street. It is in truth a strawberry dream. Every Dane knows Andersen's cellar. It is one of the attractions of Copenhagen, and to have eaten strawberries there once is to have an enduring memory of something nearly perfect on this imperfect earth.—London Chronicle.

Beginning of Man.

From this sketch of the first history of man it appears that his departure from the paradise which reason represents as the first residence of his species, was nothing else than the transition from the rudeness of a merely animal nature, to humanity, from the leading strings of instinct to the guidance of reason—in a word, from the guardianship of nature, to a state of freedom. Whether man has gained or lost by this change, can no longer be a question, if we regard the destination of the species, which consists solely in progress toward perfection; however defective may have been the first attempts, and even a long series of successive attempts to penetrate to this end.—Kant.

Did It Up in Curl Papers.

The young woman was wearing a peculiar dog-fanny feather on her hat. It was something like a peacock's plume and it was somewhere like an aigret. "I like that contrivance on your hat," said her friend, "but how does it keep itself so nicely curled? If I tried to wear a feather like that, it would be uncurled and straggly all the time." "I'll tell you a secret," replied the young woman. "I do it in curl papers every night. Honest and true I take each little flexible spiral and do it up as carefully in curl papers as if it were my own hair. The next day I remove the papers and it is the daffiest, prettiest thing imaginable. Work? O, yes, but you have to take pains if you want to keep presentable all the time, you know."—Springfield Union.

Old Houses of Cheer.

Paris has at least one restaurant—the Cafe de Regence—that is more than 200 years old; the Mitre hotel at Oxford, England, is said to be 500 years old; the Ratskeller at Bremen, which holds what is regarded as the finest stock of Rhine and Moselle wine in the world, was built in 1405; the curious little restaurant known as the Bratwurstglocklein, in Nuremberg, which is part of a church, has, it is believed, been serving roast sausages since the year 1400; and the Capello Nero restaurant in Venice traces its beginning back to the year 1370.

Lafayette Worthily Honored.

In 1777, on July 31, the Marquis de Lafayette received by a vote of congress the appointment of major general in the American army. Lafayette was the most eminent of the young Frenchmen who volunteered their services to the cause of American liberty. With a vessel fitted out at his own expense he arrived in America in the spring of 1777 and enlisted as a volunteer in Washington's army, declining all pay for his services. It was only a few months later that he was appointed major general in recognition of his military ability. He was then but twenty years of age.

Little Things.

The world is made up of atoms, and life is made up of little things. We must be faithful to small duties if we ever are faithful at all, and walk the heavenly way step by step. If we are ever to reach our longed-for destination, We talk of little things and great things as if we could discriminate between them, but until we can foresee sequences we must talk ignorantly. We cannot tell what any act will bring in its train; we are only asked to choose between right and wrong, and leave results where they belong.

What They Sigh For.

There are many busy women in the world who sigh to themselves and say, "I know I could do great things if I only had leisure." The truth is that real talent generally finds a way to express itself whether its possessor has leisure or whether she is worried and harassed by the many small duties that of necessity fill many a woman's life. It should be a consolation to most of us, therefore, to know that if we really have a talent worth giving to the world at large, it will find time for development.—Exchange.

Useful Vegetable.

A shopper in a department store, while waiting for change, overheard one cash girl remark to a companion: "Yes, his mother feeds him garlic so she can find him in the dark!"—Harper's Magazine.

Nothing Doing.

Tailor—"I'm sick of dunning you for this bill. I demand a check at once." Impecunious Author—"Sorry, old chap, but doctor has ordered me to give up writing altogether for three months."

Snakes Prolific Breeders.

An infant snake emerges into the world a complete snake, however small in size. His growth in size begins immediately and he is able to take care of himself upon birth, although, if his mother be viviparous, he may run in and out of her pouch for a few days while getting acquainted with his surroundings. Snake mothers, however affectionate, are unable to show affection long, as her young soon scatter, either to be seized and eaten by other animals or to escape all lizards and live long on the fat of the land. If snake conservation could be carried out fully, that is, if all snakes born hereafter could be free from all enemies, in 20 years America would be one vast snake den, with some six to ten trillion snakes to its credit, and there would arise long calls for a St. Patrick.

American Watersnakes.

There are nine species of watersnakes scattered broadcast. In Florida is one species of snake living in the mud. There are two species of groundsnakes, two species of blacksnakes, one, coach whip, one gopher, or indigo snake—quite affectionate; three pilot blacksnakes, one the chicken and one the cornsnake; five species of kingsnakes, which are immune from the poison of all American poisonous snakes, but are killed by the injection of cobra poison; three ring necks, one scarlet-snake, two water snakes, two greensnakes, one ratsnake, one red-bellied snake and two species of burrowing snakes, way down South. The list only totals 18 species. There are, however, 91 species of harmless snakes in all, those omitted being very rare and known only to collections.—Exchange.

Great English Painter.

The habits, mannerisms and methods of the great are always interesting. Sir Joshua Reynolds used a spoon-shaped palette, with a handle and without a hole. His brushes had handles 10 inches long and he always stood while painting. His studio was an octagonal room 20 by 16 feet, illuminated by a single square window of modern size, the sill about 9½ feet from the floor. He was a steady and consistent worker, and frequently complained of idle visitors who did not seem to realize the value of his time. He ranks as the greatest English painter of that time. He died in February of 1792 of an affection of the liver and was buried in St. Paul's cathedral.

Decatur's Brilliant Work.

In 1801, on August 3, during our war with Tripoli, the United States squadron, under Commodore Preble, appeared before Tripoli. The frigate Philadelphia was sent into the harbor to reconnoitre. It struck upon a rock and was obliged to surrender. The Tripolitans took the crew prisoners of war, and the men were treated like slaves. Early in February of the following year Lieutenant Decatur entered the harbor with a small schooner, routed the Tripolitan crew on board the Philadelphia and set the ship on fire. This feat was accomplished under heavy fire from the surrounding vessels and the land batteries. Decatur escaped without the loss of a man.

Famous American Educator.

It was Elias Loomis, born in Connecticut in 1811, educated at Yale, pioneer teacher, who introduced astronomy to Western Reserve college in 1836, and remained on the faculty for eight years, teaching mathematics and physics and adding largely to the sum of human knowledge. It has been said that he made the name of that little town in the western wilderness familiar to the advanced scientists of that period throughout the world. For many years Professor Loomis occupied the chair of natural philosophy at Yale, and died in 1889.

Age-Old Arid Lands.

The nation-wide "dryness" at hand, brings to mind localities where almost perpetual drouth is the rule. Among these is included a part of the United States which has been "bone dry" since time immemorial. Death valley, 270 feet below sea level, is an alkaline desert region in California, on the Arizona border. It is 70 miles long, 10 to 20 miles wide and is situated between high foothills. Only 75 miles away Mount Whitney raises its 14,500 feet into the air and with other nearby elevations is a barrier to any moisture reaching this parched region.

Expensive Pet.

"There's an atmosphere of wealth about this home." "Do you judge from the size of the house, the ample garage in the rear, the maid sweeping down the front steps and a gardener busy on the lawn?" "No. I judge by the size of the dog on the veranda. Anybody who can afford to feed a great dane these days must have plenty of money."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Libyan Desert.

The Libyan desert has enjoyed its distinctive name from time immemorial. . . . It forms part of the great Sahara, which dominates North Africa from the Atlantic to the Red sea—a world in itself, although its characteristics are reproduced, almost within identical latitudes, in a deep zone girdling the earth.

Not All There.

"I understand your cook left your house." "Not all of it," said Mr. Cumrox. "We had to put a mortgage on it to meet her requirements as to wages."

THIRD RED CROSS ROLL CALL

November 2 to 11, 1919

Time to Re-Join

MT. JEWETT

On Monday evening J. George Kaelber, president of the Interstate Public Service Corporation of Rochester, N. Y., was present at the special council meeting in the city building, and made final arrangements for the installation of the electric light and power project in Mt. Jewett. The charter being granted and the new company organized, which is called the Mt. Jewett Electric Company with the following officers; J. George Kaelber, Rochester, N. Y., pres; Frank S. Lawrence, Kane, vice president; W. H. Brown, Ridgway, treas; John G. Whitemore, Ridgway, Sec'y; C. F. W. Kaelber, Rochester, asst. treas; and George M. English of Mt. Jewett, supt. The company is capitalized at $25,000,000. The company has leased the store room of H. A. Thompson, opposite the station, where will be installed a complete line of all electrical appliances, in a few days. The office of the company will be in the same room. Mr. Kaelber predicts a very bright future for Mt. Jewett, and surely with the addition of electricity, we have filled the last necessary facility to put Mt. Jewett in line for any industry that may wish to locate here. All members of the new company, excepting C. F. W. Kaelber were present at the meeting of the council.

A number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. J. A. Malone Thursday evening and tendered her a birthday surprise. She was presented with a piece of silverware as a remembrance. A very fine luncheon was served, and after an evening enjoyed by all present, they departed for their homes wishing her many more returns of the day.

Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Livingston and son left today, Friday, for Stanton, Pa. where the former will have charge of the Bellevlew M. E. church. In leaving Mt. Jewett the Reverend and his family take with them the best wishes of the Herald and the people of Mt. Jewett for their success in their new field.

The work on the Mt. Jewett—Kanesholm road is progressing very nicely. They have about a mile and a half of the hard surface road laid up to the present. Coming toward Mt. Jewett they are inside of the borough line, almost to the top of Red Barn hill.

Mrs. F. L. Campbell left Thursday for Kane, having been called there by the death of Mrs. J. M. Malone of that place. Mrs. Malone was a former resident of Mt. Jewett.

Mrs. Augusta Bush, who underwent an operation at the Bradford hospital last week is getting along nicely.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mollander, Tuesday Sept. 30, a girl.

Born—Sunday, Sept. 28, to Mr. and Mrs. Henning Johnson, a boy.—Herald.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.
In Serbia.

As far back as the first winter of the war, the Red Cross sent to Serbia a sanitary commission that effectively checked the scourge of typhus, but after the United States entered the conflict, the Red Cross was able, in August, 1917, to send a full commission, that carried on extensive relief operations among the suffering refugees of the tortured nation. Hospitals were established, the refugees fed, clothed and given medical attention, the army supplied with much needed dental treatment, farm machinery, and seeds provided to help the Serbs redeem their land to productivity, and, not least, measures undertaken for the succor of the children. The terrible condition into which these helpless victims of the war had fallen is well portrayed by this photograph of a little Serbian girl wearing the rags and expression of hopeless dismay that were all she possessed when the Red Cross came.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Early in the participation of the United States in the world war, the American Red Cross perceived the value of mobilizing the school children of the country and the Junior Red Cross was organized. Before the war ended nine million children were enrolled and helped in the war fund and membership campaigns, in chapter production of relief supplies and manufacturing furniture for the refugees whose homes and household goods were destroyed.

Children everywhere in the United States responded to the call to service sounded by President Wilson as head of the American Red Cross. This photograph is that of an enthusiastic young Japanese member of the Junior Red Cross of Spokane, Wash., starting out on the ambitious undertaking of collecting "a mile of pennies" for war relief. A comprehensive peace program is now being worked out for the Junior Red Cross, which is being held intact.

BAR TO SELF-GOVERNMENT

In India Idol Worship of Brahmanical Hierarchy Would Revive, Writer Asserts.

The danger, when it comes to self-government for India, and every Anglo-Indian recognizes it, is that we may put back into power the Brahmanical hierarchy which, by all the wiles of priestcraft, by organizing aboriginal worship and blood sacrifices, by astrology and "miracles," has held the lowlier races of India enslaved, body and soul, these three thousand years.

Even the English-speaking masters of art in Calcutta university, after their graduation, go back to temples reeking with the blood of bulls and goats, and chant Vedic mantras before hideous idols. Exactly so far does their study of Mill and Huxley emancipate them. And this, in flat defiance of the fact that all the best of their sacred books sternly condemn this evil ambition and its instruments, black superstition and idolatry, the things against which the Buddha made his heroic protest. But long centuries ago, the dark Brahmanical reaction drove the Buddha's followers out of India.

Nevertheless the British trustees for the welfare of India continue to do all things in their power to advance the natives of that many-colored congeries of peoples along the path of real liberty.—Charles Johnston, in the North American Review.

HE ROSE TO THE OCCASION

Teacher Insisted That Norman Should Write Poetry, and Result Was Remarkable Effusion.

The sophomore class at N—— high school had a genius for a teacher. She could write poetry and every Friday required her pupils to do the same. Norman could play baseball, but poetry was outside his ken. Still the teacher insisted that he do it, and finally issued as her ultimatum that he either write it or she would mark him failure on his monthly report. A failure mark meant that the team would lose one of its best players, so Norman tried to write a poem. His attempt was so wretched that his teacher tried sarcasm.

"You are a genius," she told him. "Now see if you can't write a poem about yourself and your wonderful abilities."

Later she found Norman's effort in his memorandum book, but she has kept the finding a secret. For he had written:

Lives of school teachers all remind us
That they'd better get a man.
And departing leave behind them
Fewer nuisances if they can.

Devoted Nurse's Death.

The story of a nurse's devotion in France was told by Maj. Gen. Cuthbert Wallace at a meeting convened by the London national council of women to consider shorter hours for hospital staffs.

"There was," said the general, "a certain hospital in France where the German bombers were coming over night after night. Some people get restless when they know that bombs may be dropped on them. The wounded man—although he was practically indifferent to shell fire—in a hospital very often gets seized with this horrible fear, this inability to keep still. There was a certain nurse who was looking after a ward in which there was a man who was bedridden and could not get out of the way. She had gone off duty one evening when these bombers came over. She knew of this man and went back to her ward. She was not on duty, but she sat at this man's bed and sang to him. A bomb fell. That woman was killed, but the man was left. The name of this heroic nurse was not revealed.

Not Particular.

Two local fire laddies recently went on a hunting trip.

Hearing a shot, one yelled to the other:

"Get something?"

"You betcha," the other replied.

"What is it?"

"Pheasant."

The other, approaching, laughed derisively.

"Huh!" he said, "that isn't a pheasant; it's a screech-owl."

"Oh, well," said the first hunter, "what's the difference? When I eat a bird I eat its meat. I ain't particular what kind of a voice it's got."—London Tit-Bits.

May Be Big Gold Field.

That free gold of untold quantities would be found in the gravel of the channel where once flowed the Rogue river has been the belief of Oregon miners for more than half a century. And so it happened that the owner of the old Waldo mine near Grant's Pass the other day made the greatest strike ever made in this section when he turned gravel for the first time. His holdings consist of 4,200 acres and it is believed that almost every foot of them lie over the old river bed and that nearly all of it is rich in pay dirt.

Danced to Death.

It was a Polish wedding and there were quite a number of guests. Each one that danced with the bride was to pay $1. They had been dancing and celebrating all evening and it was early the next morning when the bride had danced about forty-five times, therefore making about $45. She was determined she would make $50 before she quit and had almost succeeded when she fell to the floor dead.

MALEKULANS NOT ALL BAD

Pugnacious South Pacific Islanders Scrupulously Honest, Though Careless of Human Life.

The sending of a small naval force to Malekula island, in the New Hebrides, for the protection of planters against the natives brings some incidental information about a peculiar people with the undesirable fame of being the most bellicose inhabitants of any island in the South Pacific. Malekula island has long been under the joint control of France and England, and at intervals some display of force has been necessary to make the islanders respect the local representatives of a more advanced civilization. Despite their reputation for pugnacity, however, there is much, declares a recent writer, to be said for the Malekulans. For one thing, they are remarkably honest; the traveler who goes among them knows that however he may fare as regards personal safety, he is in no danger whatever of losing his personal property. And if he is careful not to irritate his hosts, he is likely to come away with a pleasant memory of the native village community, its discussions of community affairs in a kind of village forum, its dances, and its children's playground under the banyan tree. He learns also that many of the villages have a social club for men and that the islander, who is also a crack marksman with bow and arrow, takes great satisfaction in belonging to it.

JUST MISSED SEEING FATHER

Little Incident Reported From France Shows That Political Trickery is Not Unknown There.

When it comes to the matter of political trickery, modern nations one and all seem to be pretty well tarred with the same brush. The following incident retold with a flavor of Gallic irony by the Cri de Paris is said to have taken place at Toulouse.

On election day a young man came to a booth to vote.

"But, monsieur," said one of the overseers, "you have already voted."

"I? Allos donc! I am certain that I have not."

A search being made of the records, it is discovered that there has been an error in the recording of the Christian name. It is not Marius Tarturin that has voted but Gonzague Tarturin.

"Gonzague!" cried the young man; "you are quite sure that he has voted?"

"Yes, indeed! Look, here is the register."

"Ah, how I regret not having been here," said the young man. "I would have embraced him with much pleasure. He is my father."

"Your father?"

"Yes, and I have not seen him since he died, four years ago."—The Living Age.

A "Geeneral Sattlement."

In the rich spoil that the Hapsburgs accumulated, over many centuries, much of which is coming back to the nations that owned it, there is hardly a more interesting item than the coronation robes that Italy now proposes to have returned to Palermo, Sicily. Henry VI, emperor of the Holy Roman empire in the twelfth century, subdued the Sicilies and took back to Germany the gorgeous costume that Saracen artisans had made for Norman kings who had come into control a hundred years earlier. Since then the robes have been worn by Hapsburg monarchs at their coronations, and of late years they have been kept, between these ceremonial occasions, in the imperial treasury in Hofburg, Vienna. The robes include a magnificent mantle, a wonderfully embroidered alb or long gown of fine linen, and a girdle of gold scales. As between Austria and Italy, it certainly looks like what Weelum Sprunt would have called a "geeneral sattlement."

A Fellow Feeling.

"I saw an ant on the window sill of my room on the seventh floor of the hotel where I stopped in Kansas City," related Gabe Gosnell of Grudge, who was just back from a brief stay in the Big Burg. "I looked at him a long time, and says I: 'Little feller, I don't know how you got here, away up in the air above the ground you are used to, but you don't look any more out of place than I feel, with all the citified rush and hurry and uproar going on around me day and night, in a never-ending hoorah,' says I."—Kansas City Star.

New Roads in France.

Four great mountain roads are to be relaid and relaid in the upper Vosges, leading from France into Alsace.

The Commission des Routes of the district of the Vosges is looking to the near future when tourists will pass that way. Largely the roads existed as strategic military mountain roads and the present effort is in line with making them available for pleasure automobiles. Taken together they will form a new approachable circuit and entrance into upper Alsace.

Science Can Overcome Locust.

Fruit trees are always the special objectives of the locusts when they sound the rallying-cry, and when thorough preparations are not made against their coming they can leave a trail of ruin in the wake of their flight; but the science of the day is almost a match for the pest, and no such havoc can attend his attack as he achieved in the earliest days of his destructive history.

New Tires From Old

Discarding tires because the tread is worn usually means losing 75 per cent of the original investment.

With Miller Ad-On-A-Tires they can be rejuvenated—made almost as good as new—and oversize. Your tires will then deliver 100 per cent value on your investment.

Miller AD-ON-A-TIRE Geared to the Road

The Miller Ad-On-A-Tire is built of several layers of fabric—breaker strip sidewalls, and famous Geared-to-the-Road tread. It is really a tire in itself without beads. It is tough, long-wearing and buoyant. Bring us your worn tires. We will re-mile them with the famous Miller Ad-On-A-Tire. The many caterpillar feet engage the ground like cogs, insuring positive traction and safety.

Our process makes the Miller Ad-On-A-Tire an integral part of your old tire. After it is applied you cannot tell the old tire from a new. It can be used on any tire regardless of make. Come in and see this wonderful tire saver.
